FROM THE PRESIDENT

The Urban Vineyards Association (U.V.A.) was born with the aim of protecting the rural, historical and natural heritage represented by urban vineyards, enhancing their awareness and unlocking their touristic and wine making potential (although not all vineyards are wine producing).

Wine production in urban vineyards is peculiar, especially due to the close proximity of households requiring a tailored approach to vineyard management, often set as organic, and peculiar problems such as reduced direct sunlight and city birds attacks in some cases.

Urban wines sometimes face a prejudice: being city born, they cannot be high quality as those produced in the countryside. This initiative is to challenge this perception: soil, weather conditions and wine making skills drives wine quality regardless if the surroundings of a vineyard are build-up.

The catalogue presents a comprehensive selection of wines produced with grapes coming from Urban Vineyards part of our association, including some non-commercial wines produced for cultural purposes only.

Nicola Purrello

President of the Urban Vineyards Association
on behalf of the U.V.A. Board

Adelaide

Patritti

Patritti Wines is an historical Adelaide based winery, dedicated to preserving South Australia's urban viticultural heritage. Since 2006, they have managed the historic Marion Vineyard, established in 1907, and later revived the nearby Warriparinga and Oaklands Estate Vineyards, once-neglected sites now back to wine production.

These vineyards, part of Patritti's Urban Vineyard Collection, reflect a unique blend of tradition, innovation, and sustainability, with all wines grown, made, and bottled locally—honoring a legacy that began with Giovanni Patritti in 1926.

Barcelona

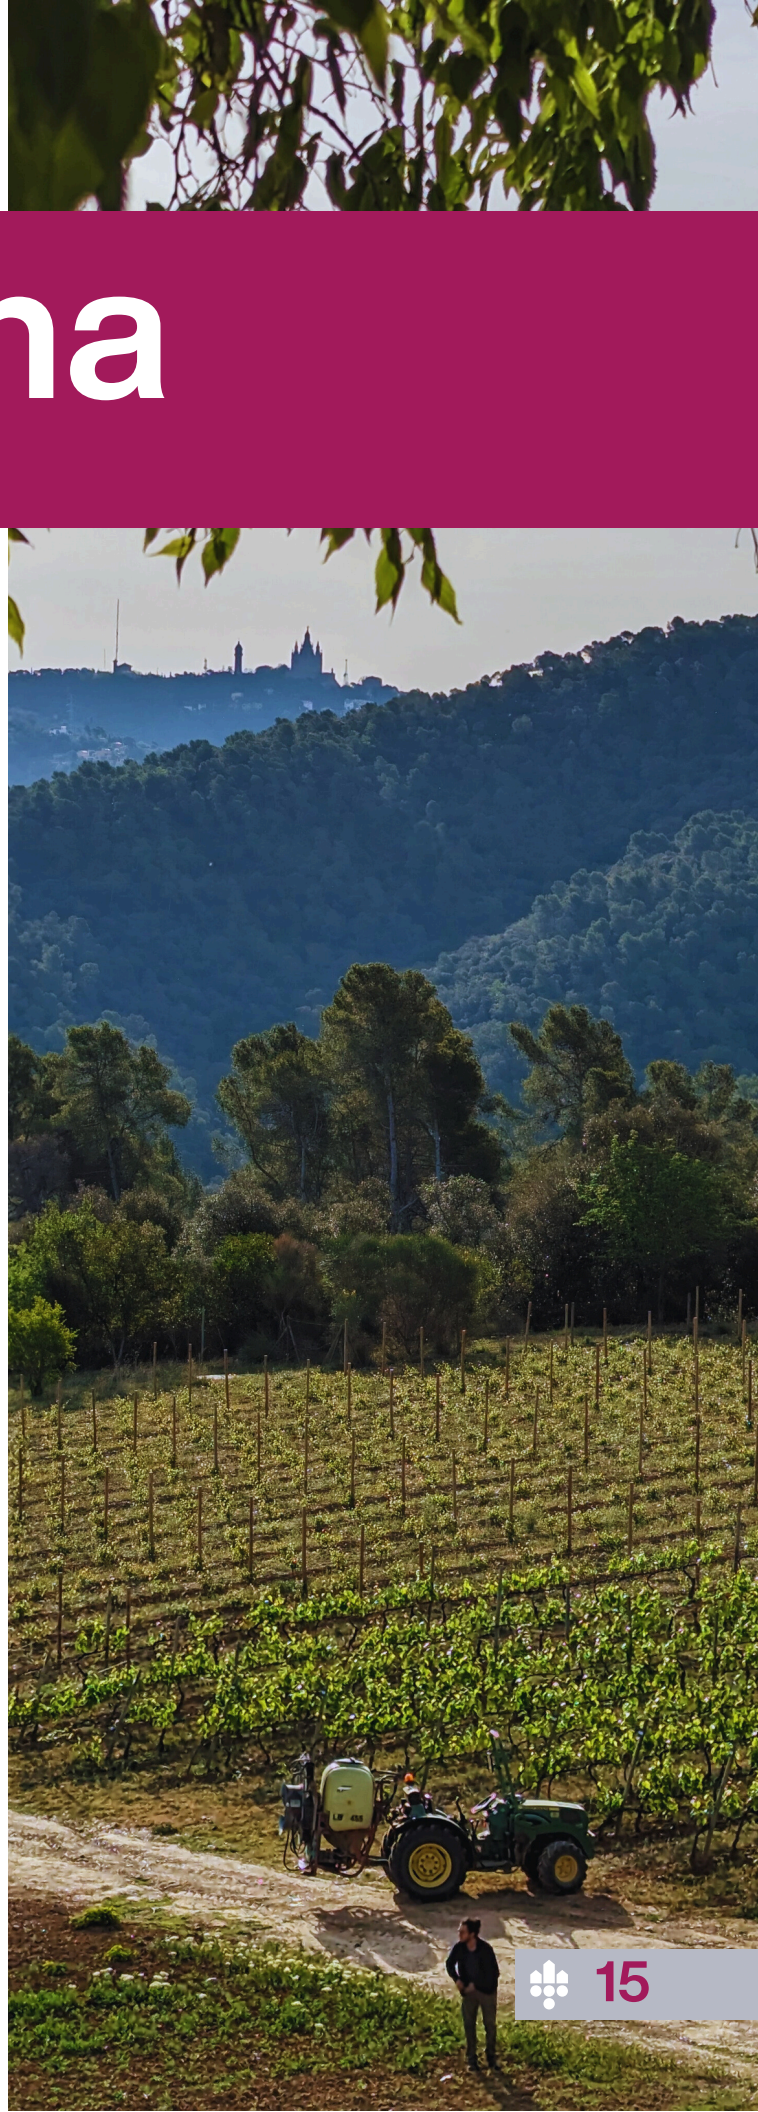

Masia Can Calopa de Dalt

Can Calopa de Dalt, located in the heart of Collserola Natural Park, is a testament to Barcelona's rich wine heritage. This historic 16th-century farmhouse is home to the city's last remaining productive vineyard.

Managed by Cooperativa L'Olivera, a non-profit organization, Can Calopa produces organic wines and olive oils while championing social inclusion and sustainable agricultural practices.

Bolzano

Nusserhof

Nusserhof is a 3.5-hectare oasis nestled within the urban landscape of Bolzano, in the Alto Adige region. Rooted in alluvial and porphyry soils nourished by the Isarco River, their vines—some over 80 years old—grow exclusively native varieties: Lagrein, Teroldego, and the rare Blatterle. Once on the brink of extinction, Blatterle was revived by Heinrich, Gloria's father, who propagated the last ten surviving vines. Today, half a hectare is dedicated to preserving this historical gem.

Since 1994, the estate has been certified organic, embracing a low-intervention approach to winemaking—relying solely on indigenous yeasts and allowing each wine to mature at its own pace, often up to four years, to achieve harmony and depth. Nusserhof's legacy is also deeply tied to the memory of Josef Mayr-Nusser, Gloria's great-uncle, who was executed for refusing to swear allegiance to Hitler and later beatified by Pope Francis in 2017. His courage continues to inspire the soul behind every bottle.

Brasilia

Vinhedo Lacustre

Vinhedo Lacustre began in 1996 with a deep love for the land, when the owner's father planted a grapevine on a property overlooking Brasília. Despite the region's rainy summers, a breakthrough in the 2000s—known as the “double pruning” technique—enabled quality grape production during the dry winters.

In 2010, the family planted a hectare of vines, including Cabernet Sauvignon, Syrah, Merlot, and Lorena, originally for personal use. After health issues in 2020, Marcos Ritter took over to fulfill his father's dream, releasing their first wine in 2021 and opening the vineyard to visitors in 2022. Today, Vinhedo Lacustre is a key wine tourism destination in Brasília, offering tastings, picnics, and Italian cuisine, all rooted in family heritage and passion.

Los Angeles

Hollywood Classic

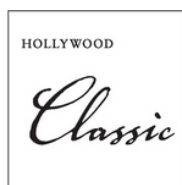

Hollywood Classic is just steps from the iconic Hollywood Sign and bordered by the expansive Griffith Park. Perched at over 1,300 feet in elevation and only 12.5 miles from the Pacific Ocean, this steep hillside vineyard is meticulously farmed by hand, following organic and sustainable practices. Founded in 2001 by the York family, it features Bordeaux varietals and aims to revive Los Angeles' rich winemaking heritage dating back to the 1800s. The estate spans 40 acres, with 8 acres currently undervine.

Melbourne

Studley Park Vineyard

The Vineyard was planted in 1994 on a hectare of river front land which had been used as a market garden for almost 100 years. There are indications that part of the land was used to grow grapes. Early plans reveal that the area was known as the Chinese Gardens at the beginning of the 20th century. We have also planted olives, lemons and figs which are a nod to later Italian owners of the market garden land during the 1940s, 1950s and 1960s. Located 4 km from the city centre, the vineyard land is one of the very last remaining parcels of land used for agricultural purposes in proximity to the city.

Paris

Clos de Montmartre

Clos Montmartre, perched on the historic slopes of Montmartre, has been reviving an ancient Gallo-Roman tradition since 1933. That was when the Vieux Montmartre Society and the République de Montmartre launched a campaign to prevent the construction of a building and instead plant a vineyard on one of Montmartre's last remaining open plots—1,800 vines spread over 20 grape varieties. The Grape Harvest Festival (La Fête des Vendanges) and the sale of the wine support the social initiatives of the Committee of Festivals and Social Actions.

Venice

San Francesco della Vigna

San Francesco della Vigna, the oldest urban vineyard in Venice, is nestled within the closure area in a still-active Franciscan monastery. Since 2019 the vineyard has been managed by the technical staff of Santa Margherita, choosing to plant the two most historic varieties during the Serenissima Republic of Venice: Malvasia and Glera.

The first vintage of Harmonia Mundi was officially presented in 2024 after two years of winemaking.

Vienna

Eichhorn Winery

Eichhorn Winery, located in Vienna and founded by artist duo Miriam and Ron, blends creativity with tradition through their natural, low-intervention approach to winemaking. Since acquiring their first vines in 2020, they've crafted distinctive, elegant wines inspired by classic icons and shaped by close, seasonal work with the land. Their vineyards, planted between 1986 and 1992, feature traditional Viennese white grape field blends, with each wine macerated on the mash and aged in oak casks or amphorae. The result is a unique expression of urban viticulture that honors heritage while embracing artistic innovation.

Thessaloniki

Urban Vineyard of the City of Thessaloniki

Founded in 2013 within the heart of Thessaloniki, this vineyard features native Greek grape varieties, including Malagouzia, Robola, Xinomavro, and Agiorgitiko, all cultivated on reclaimed municipal land. With the support of local leaders, Ktima Gerovassiliou, and the viticulture lab of Aristotle University, the vineyard has grown into a vibrant community project. It is home to Gorgona, the city's acclaimed wine, and serves as a cultural hub where music, dance, and charitable initiatives flourish.

FAQs

How to purchase the wine?

Can we make one order for multiple producers?

At the moments, orders must be submitted to the individual wineries. We are working to create a centralized storage, payment and shipment platform

Is it possible to organize wine tastings of urban wines?

You are more than welcome to organize tastings of urban wines purchasing and servings wines of your election directly from the wineries.

Can you provide educational, support material?

In case you live near any of our member, you can contact them to request their presence at tastings of urban wines. We can also provide power point slides of the vineyards and wines

What is the difference between wines in this catalogue (e.g. produced from urban vineyards) and those produced at “urban wineries”?

Our catalogue includes wines made with grapes cultivated inside cities (e.g. urban vineyards). Urban Wineries typically import grapes from the countryside and process them in the city

Are urban wines polluted?

There is no evidence of heavy metals residuals in finished wines produced from urban vineyards. Many of the vineyards are also managed following organic farming protocols. We also like to highlight the role of urban vineyards in mitigating pollution and their positive impact on cities
